Current Progress at the Site

EPA has determined that both Environmental Indicators for human exposures and groundwater migration have been met. EPA is currently reviewing additional information to make a determination if “no further correction action” status at the facility. EPA anticipates that a determination will be made by the end of the year. If EPA determines that a “no further corrective action” status is proposed, EPA will issue a public notice of the proposal in the local newspaper to solicit comments from the public. A public meeting will be held if one is requested.

Site Description

In 1988, Allegheny Ludlum acquired the majority of the Vandergrift plant from the USX Corporation. The frozen hollow dump site, which was used from 1930's to 1970's for disposal of slag and cinder, was retained by the USX Corporation following the ownership transaction and was not evaluated as part of the Allegheny Ludlum Steel property.

The facility manufactures stainless steel coils the requires various manufacturing techniques that include cold roll, anneal, pickle, silt and shear. The operations are used to cold roll, anneal, pickle, slit and shear stainless steel coils. The major machineries include cold rolling Z-mills, Anneal and Pickling Lines, a Temper Mill and various Coil Slitters. A permit-by rule wastewater treatment facility pre-treats wastewaters prior to discharge to the Kiskiminetas River.

Site Responsibility

The Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection periodically inspects the facility to ensure that the facility meets RCRA regulations. EPA is gathering additional information to fully assess the current status at the facility, before a proposed determination a “no further corrective action” is made.
